

World Environment Day 2013

Yalla refresh our commitment towards the most sustainable environment while celebrating the "World Environment Day" at NAQUA not only by our words but with our actions

Yalla!

Every living thing on this earth including Human, Animals, Plants & anything that is connected with their activities and behaviors depends upon the sustainability of the environment surrounding them. As the most sophisticated and intelligent creation of the Almighty; it is our prior duty to maintain, improve and sustain our environment to its purest and natural form.

Since we were considered the reformers of the earth and not the destroyer; it is then up on you and I to keep our habitat clean, pure, healthy & as green as possible. Natural resources are the gift of the nature and we must protect and respect them for us and for our generations to come.

At NAQUA; we are totally committed to maintain and improve our beautiful, natural environmental conditions. We are blessed with the pristine waters from the Red Sea; miles and miles of shore line with a vast landscape that facilitates ecofriendly farming and production of best quality seafood products for regional and global markets with a strong "Farm to Family" Quality Assurance, Food Safety & Sustainability Systems. We are globally recognized company for our quality and environmental controls and are ISO-14001 certified with 100 % compliance towards Presidency of Meteorology and Environment regulations.

Let's refresh our commitment towards the most sustainable environment while celebrating the "World Environment Day" at NAQUA not only by our words but with our actions. Director-Corporate Quality & Sustainability "Mr. Nasir Hameed" Said.

We are blessed and proud to be the part of NAQUA where our mind-set is not only to generate financial results but to provide the best possible quality food products for millions of people around the world; while dealing with the environmental and economic challenges with courage, honesty & professional integrity
